

Workshop Co-organized by CISMOR and IKTINOS
Canon: A Study of Ancient Writings' Ideology

Sat. January 15, 2022
An Online Conference
PROGRAM

10:30am-10:45am

Opening words: Prof. Ada Taggar Cohen and Prof. Jungwoo Kim

Greetings from Korea:

Prof. Young-Jin Min, Former General Secretary of the Korean Bible Society

Session I: 10:45am-12:15pm

Chair: Prof. Dongsoo Kim

10:45-11:15 Prof. Ada Taggar Cohen, Graduate School of Theology, Doshisha University, Kyoto
Title: "What is Canonical in the Writings of the Ancient Near Eastern Texts of the Hittites"

11:15-11:45 Prof. Jungwoo Kim, Chongshin University, ret., Seoul & Director of IKTINOS,
Title: "Revisiting the Canon Debate and Beyond: with Reference to the East-Asian Canonics"

11:45-12:15 Prof. Yoon Kyung Lee, Ewha Womans University, Seoul
Title: "Reading the Qumranic Biblical Interpretation from a Korean Confucian Context"

Break 12:15pm-1:15pm

Session II: 1:15pm-2:15pm

Chair: Dr. Tetsu Kitamura

1:15-1:45 Dr. Teppei Kato, Institute of Liberal Arts, Otemon Gakuin University, Osaka
Title: "Obelos and Asteriskos: Ancient Textual Criticism of the Bible as a Canonical Text"

1:45-2:15 Prof. Ky-Chun So, Presbyterian University & Theological Seminary, Seoul
Title: "The Q Canonicity in Tradition and Überlieferung"

Break 2:15pm-2:20pm

Session III: 2:20pm-3:45pm

Chair: Prof. Hannah S. An

2:20-2:50 Prof. Kyu Seop Kim, ACTS University, Yangpyeong
Title: "The Pauline Corpus in Light of the Herculaneum Papyri:
A Theory of 'the Two-Volume Archetype'"

2:50-3:20 Prof. Moriyoshi Murayama, Graduate School of Theology, Doshisha University
Title: "Paul and the Use of the Scripture in the letter to the Romans"

3:20-3:45 Concluding comments and future ideas